Shoshazan Engyoji Temple
Shoshazan Engyoji Temple is the 27th temple of the 33 Sacred Sites in Saigoku, opened by Shoku Shonin in 1966. It boasts a vast temple on the mountain with an area the size of 11 Tokyo Domes, and is also known as the "Mt. Hiei of the West."

Experience location Mitsunodo, which has also been used as a filming location for movies and dramas.

All are nationally designated important cultural properties.

Beyond Maniden, there are three buildings called Mitsunodo, a large lecture hall, a dining hall, and a Jogyodo hall.

jogyodo
(A dojo for practicing jogyo Samadhi)
The main statues of Shaka Triad and Four Heavenly Kings (usually closed to the public), which are nationally designated important cultural properties, are enshrined here.

jikidou (dining room)
It was originally a building for sleeping and eating for monks in training. Currently, you can see the Sutra Sutra Dojo on the 1st floor, and the temple treasures on the 2nd floor.
